Payroll and Employment Records for Unemployment Insurance Purposes

Purpose

To explain the information and records employers are required to keep for unemployment insurance (UI) purposes and the confidentiality standard of these records

Rescission

None

Contents

In the interest of ensuring that all necessary information is available to Indiana Department of Workforce Development (IDWD) and that the confidentiality of such information is maintained, this IDWD policy sets forth guidelines regarding the appropriate information to be maintained and kept open for inspection by the employer and the confidentiality standard for the information once obtained by IDWD.

Required Records

Pursuant to Indiana Code § 22-4-19-6, each employing unit must keep accurate payroll and employment records containing the following information:

1. name and Social Security number of each employee;
2. cash remuneration paid to each employee per calendar quarter;
3. remuneration other than cash paid to each employee per calendar quarter;
4. date each employee last worked and date to which wages were last payable;
5. reason for termination;
6. reason for lost time in any week during which any employee earns less than the maximum weekly benefit amount established by law;
7. remuneration earned by each employee each calendar week;
8. whether each week worked by each employee is in fact a week of less than full-time work; and
9. the base of operations of each employee.

Employing units must preserve the records for a period of at least four (4) calendar years in addition to the current calendar year.

Confidentiality of Records

All UI records are confidential and exempt from disclosure under Indiana's Access to Public Records Act. However, UI records may be released under certain circumstances pursuant to IC § 22-4-19-6. In addition, UI payroll and employment records may also be released under the following circumstances.

Evidence relative to the payroll records or data of any employing unit, as reflected by the records of IDWD, may be given by IDWD's Commissioner, or any representative, agent, or employee of IDWD at any hearing before an IDWD administrative law judge, the Unemployment Insurance Review Board, or an IDWD liability administrative law judge.

The Commissioner of IDWD, or any representative, agent, or employee of IDWD is authorized to give information to any employer, the employer's attorney, or a duly authorized representative relative to the payroll records or data of such employer as reflected by the records of IDWD so long as written consent to release said record is first obtained.

Evidence and information relative to the payroll records or data of any employing unit may be given to any other employing unit to determine whether it has incurred rights or liability under IC § 22-4-10-6 or IC § 22-4-32-21.

An individual may obtain information relative to the individual's earnings reported by any of the individual's employers either in person at any IDWD or WorkOne office or submitting a written request to IDWD. However, the individual must identify himself or herself to the satisfaction of IDWD. At a minimum, photo identification and proof of Social Security number will be required as safeguards against identity theft.
